A Partnership that puts our Investments to Work for Ministry

The Presbytery of Baltimore and the Presbyterian Investment & Loan Program (PILP) share a commitment to supporting our churches as they bear witness to the gospel near and far. Today, 13 churches in the Presbytery of Baltimore have loans through PILP. These congregations have met challenges and pursued new opportunities through a partnership rooted and grounded in the oneness of the body of Christ. Across the PC(USA), more than 500 congregations have PILP loans for projects ranging from HVAC upgrades and sanctuary renovations to solar panels and affordable housing. PILP helps churches bring their visions for ministry to life.

PILP's loans are primarily funded through investments by Presbyterian individuals, churches, and governing bodies. Every investment in PILP term notes helps make that lending possible, allowing Presbyterians to support one another while earning interest on their investments.

Investing with PILP is one way to steward your resources while building up the people of God to the glory of God. Are you or your church looking for a mission-impact investment that can also diversify your portfolio? Does your church have a savings account or operating reserve that could be invested in PILP's Mission Market Fund to help support sister churches? Are you considering how to establish or strengthen an emergency fund for yourself or a loved one? PILP offers investment options to meet a variety of needs, including interest-bearing term notes with fixed or adjustable rates and terms ranging from six months to five years.

Whether you're reviewing your congregation's reserves or considering personal investments, I'd welcome the opportunity to discuss how PILP's investment options might fit your financial goals.
